Exploring In The New

Opening

At last a long-awaited dream has become a reality! The new Shelbyville High School opened its doors to students and faculty on September 3, 1959. We, the Class of 1960, invite you, our SQUIB readers, to explore with us this beautiful brick building.

The old S. H. S. is but a fond memory to us now. The new S. H. S. is a happy and exciting place in which we have had the opportunity of enriching our minds with knowledge. The acquisition of this knowledge was made easier and more pleasant by the new, cheerful classrooms in which we studied and worked.

Shelbyville High School

Some of the new features at S. H. S. that students never before have enjoyed are these: new courses of study which have been added to the school's curriculum; the big student center, equipped with coke machines and chairs; the five-room clinic which is available for routine tasks and emergency cases; and a four-room library. Yes, we are all very proud of our attractive, new school with its ultramodern rooms, its student conveniences, and its superior classroom instruction.

Dedication

We, the members of the 1960 Graduating Class, dedicate this SQUIB

In loving remembrance of

THE CLOCK

The clock of life is wound but once,
And no man has the power
To tell just where the hands will stop
At late or early hour.
Now is the only time you own,
Live, love, toil with a will —
Place no faith in "tomorrow", for
The clock may then be still.

S. H. S. Today

The aerial photograph which is reproduced on this page was taken from a helicopter by Robert Brant. The picture shows the school as it actually appears today. The architect's drawing shown in color on the introductory pages includes an auditorium which will be built in the future.

The modern classroom pictured at the right is typical of the fine furniture and equipment which have been provided for the student's use at S. H. S.

This is the ultramodern chemistry laboratory and classroom.

Sharon Leffler and Carmen Coers, members of a foods class, work with a new electric mixer and cook on one of the new stoves.

Home Economics Class

The combination cooking and sewing suite provided a pleasant learning atmosphere for students in home economics classes. The rooms are internally divided by a dining room and a pressing room.

The large kitchen area is equipped with two electric ranges, two gas ranges, one surface burner, one electric wall oven, a combination washer and dryer, a combination freezer and refrigerator, two garbage disposal units, and plenty of cabinet space.

The sewing room area, with the adjacent pressing room, contains twenty-two sewing machines and very adequate closet space.

We Discover New Facilities

Commerce

The commerce department offers a wide variety of business education subjects. In the large commercial department of S. H. S., a student may wish to pursue the complete commercial course; or he may choose to elect only a year of a business subject.

Many new pieces of equipment were added to this department. These pieces included six electric typewriters — five I. B. M.'s and one Royal machine — and several other new manual-operated typewriters. A new accretion for the advanced commerce classes was an Edison Voice Writer dictation machine.

Shelbyville High School's reputation for training and supplying good office workers is well known in this vicinity and in adjoining areas. The new equipment which has been added to the business education department serves to enhance its facilities greatly.

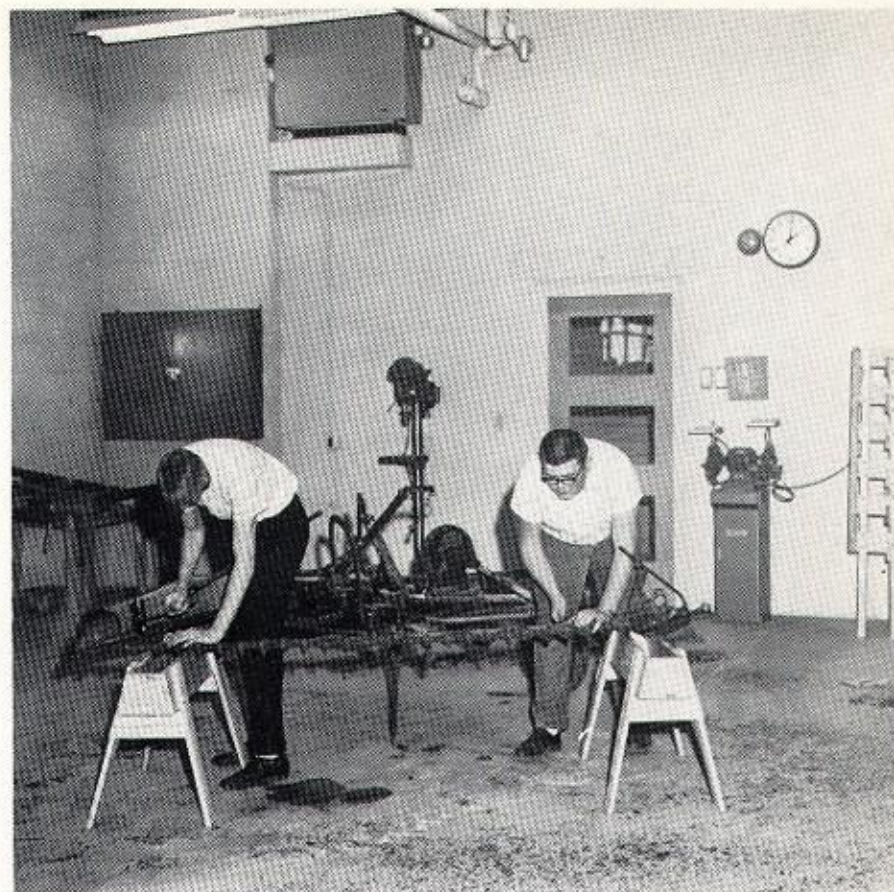

Martha Davis and Peggy Landis use two of the new electric typewriters in advanced commerce.

Agriculture Shop

Since agriculture shop class had livestock for its students to observe, it was not unusual to hear the sound of a cow bell in S. H. S. corridors! The boys also observed and examined several pieces of heavy farm machinery. (Some of the future food producers of America have studied within these walls!)

The shop's judging teams have competed in many contests and, in turn, have brought home several prizes.

Mike Dover and Max McColley repair a mower in agriculture shop.

To Help Us Learn

Bill Lovitt and Larry VanSickle help each other in mechanical drawing class.

Shop

Maybe you've heard the buzz of a saw or the noisy pounding of a hammer. These sounds came from one of the shops. In the shops, many of the future draftsmen, carpenters, and electricians developed their talents in the fields they intend to enter in later life. Many beautiful and useful objects were made during the process of the school year in the metal and wood shops.

Max Shadley unloads the kiln in the spacious new art department.

Sue Sears, Susie Stine, and North Thurston do some research work for an advanced history term paper in the new library.

And Use Our Minds And Bodies

Art

Many art students, this year, have derived a great deal of pleasure from their courses in fine and applied art.

Various new features were added to the art department which enabled students to develop their skills more fully in this field.

To the ceramic department were added three potters' wheels, two kilns, and a spray booth. Large drawing tables, double sinks, and added cabinet space are many of the new features which were enjoyed by Lorena Williams' art classes.

Doloris McDonald and one of her girls' health classes examine "Oscar" in their study of the human body.

Library

A new feature at S. H. S. which students enjoyed throughout the year was the spacious four-room library.

The reading area in the large main room has been furnished with a couch and two lounge chairs. Magazines and newspapers could be found in this part of the room. The quiet, new study room was a great help when making special reports and doing research work. Several sets of encyclopedias provided students with information which enabled them to have better understandings of their chosen topics.

Olive Kinsley, the librarian, had a workroom adjoining the main reading room for preparing the books for the shelves and for taking care of all the necessary library paper work.

Health

A subject of great importance to all students is health. Doloris McDonald, girls' health instructor, and Arthur Barnett, boys' health instructor, helped pupils to obtain a better understanding of the functions of the body. During the one-semester course, the students studied cells, tissues, organs, and systems. Blood typings were made on all class members and on members of the faculty who requested it.

J. Daniel Kocher gives Steve Theobald a few pointers on a speech he is to give before his speech class.

To Broaden Our Outlook

Speech

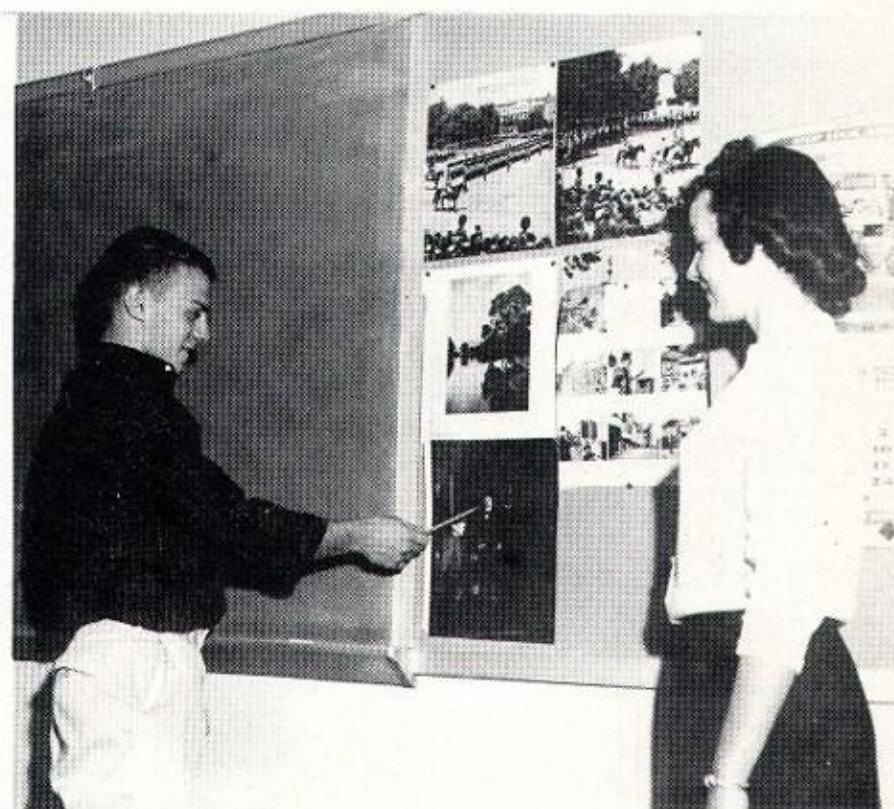

"What is your speech going to be about?" This was a popular question around the halls, for speech was a popular course.

In the beginning speech class, the student acquired confidence in speaking before an audience. Discussion and debate played big roles, also. Advanced speech class gave the student more self-confidence, and he learned the basic fundamentals of dramatics.

The beginning and advanced speech classes were taught by J. Daniel Kocher.

English Literature

In the English literature course, which often is referred to as senior literature, the students grasp some of the visions that such poets as Shakespeare, Milton, Byron, and Burns have passed on to us through their great literary works. This course, which is taught by Georgia Moore, covers the works of these and other English and Scottish writers from the fifth century to and including the first half of the twentieth century.

Steve McGrew points out items of interest to the senior literature class while Sharon Longstreet looks on.

Joann Stevens asks the advice of Malcolm Clay on her class schedule for next year.

Guidance

Nearly all S. H. S. students at one time or another seek counsel from Malcolm Clay, the guidance director. Whether it be in planning curriculums, in advising students on colleges and universities, or in giving aptitude or scholarship tests, he is always available for consultations.

Exploration Needs

Guidance

Journalism Class

Marion Chenoweth's journalism class, which published THE COURIER bi-weekly, had several projects. In addition to reporting the news, writing stories, features, and editorials, these students visited THE SHELBYVILLE NEWS office, saw the newspaper plant in action, learned about the different kinds of type, and attempted to write newspaper headlines.

Another project that the class participated in this year was the one of learning to set type. There were no clean hands in class that day!

The journalism class does some work for a future edition of THE COURIER, the school paper, during sixth hour journalism class.

Government

In the course of government, students learned about the organization and operation of our national government. Ronald Abrell, the instructor, also discussed the other kinds of government found in the world today and their differences and similarities. Informative discussions and lectures were the main high lights of this course.

Ronald Abrell, government teacher, and Larry Arnold talk about the map produced by Scholastic Magazine, a weekly newspaper which the students study.

Science And Math

Would you like to probe into the mysteries of the earth and space? To do this a knowledge of math and science is necessary. The study of math and science offers a vast field in which to develop one's interests.

Advanced math courses at S. H. S. extend to college algebra, solid geometry, and trigonometry. Chemistry and physics experiments often provide the corridors with all sorts of strange smells and sounds!

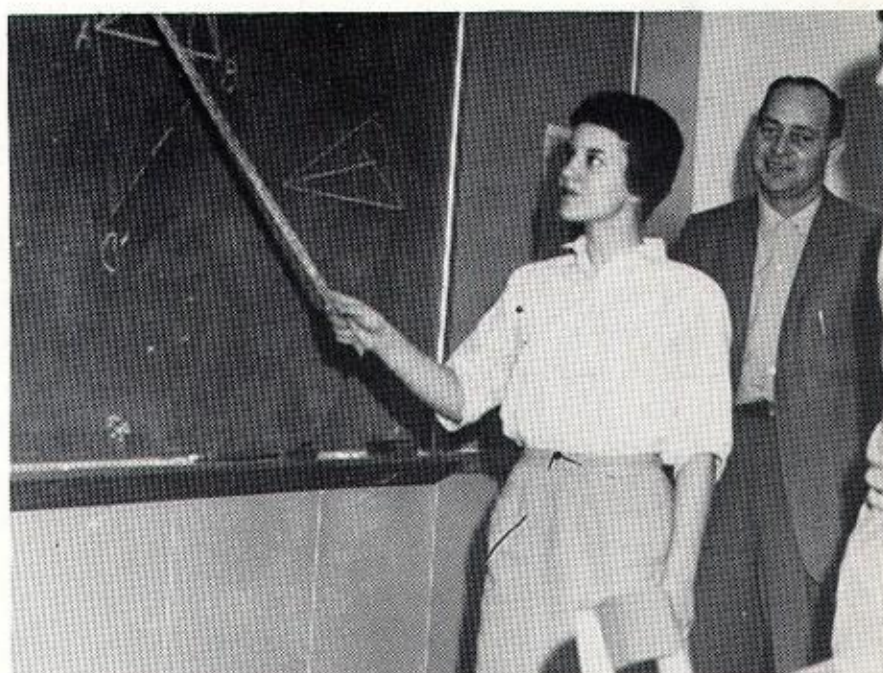

Marty Mitchell does an experiment in one of Lawrence "Boots" Thompson's chemistry classes.

Also Trial And Error

Mike Bansbach, Dan Compton, and John Wolfe work physics experiments under the direction of Lawrence "Boots" Thompson.

Rosie Tharpe proves a proposition under the supervision of Ray Beck.

We Explore Then And Now

Advanced American History Class

This was the third year for the advanced American history class, and the members were chosen on the basis of scores on achievement tests given at the beginning of the school year. Twenty students who showed superior knowledge of the subject became members of the class this year.

These people were freed from routine class work, but they were required to cover the textbook as the other students did and to take all the exams. During the regular class period, this group was permitted to do more extensive reading and research in the school library. Broad discussion questions and essay exams were given to the members. Term papers were assigned, and basic methods of research and mechanics of paper writing were also stressed. Since these papers were read before the advanced class, some of them were recorded and played later for the regular American history classes. Special achievement exams on each phase of study were given, and an achievement exam over the entire American history course was taken at the end of the year.

Latin

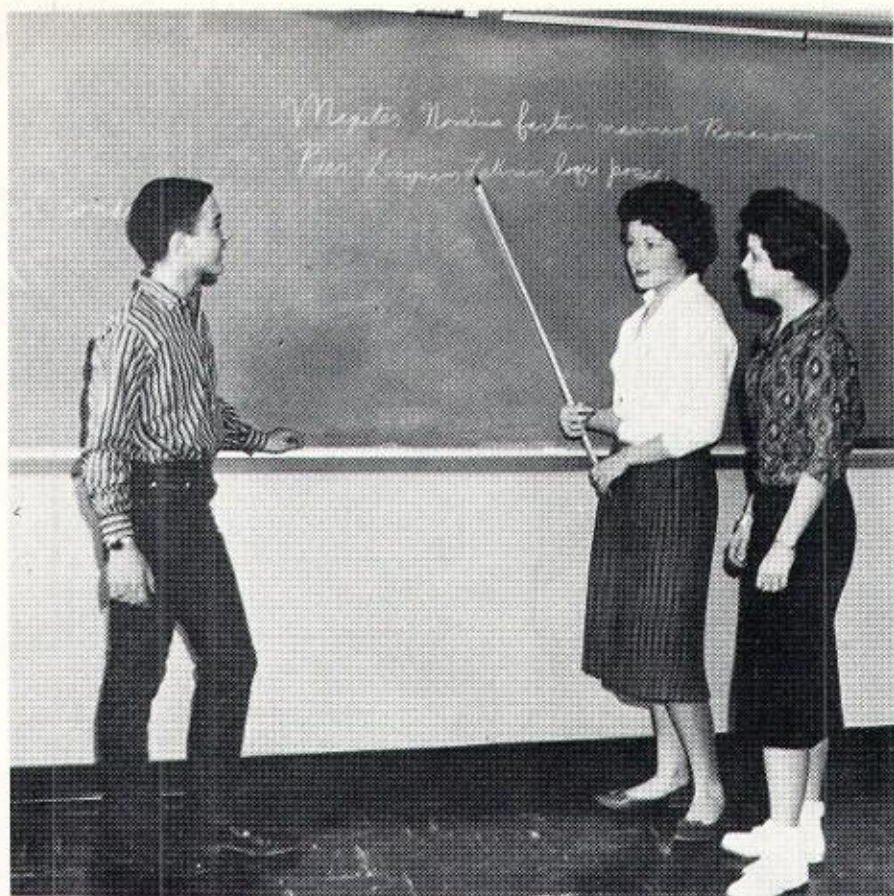

This year the three Latin IV classes made scale models of the catapults which were used by the Romans in Caesar's time. They dressed dolls to look like the soldiers of the period.

Classwork was augmented by special reports from the students. Auxilium Latinum, a national classroom Latin magazine, reported current happenings in Latin. Different students were assigned the translations of the sections in this periodical.

Spanish

In the Spanish II class, regular textbook material was supplemented with Spanish newspapers and records.

Red Rain was the modern Spanish book which the class read.

Ben Frank and Ann Staats look on as Pat Ryan points out a phrase written in Latin to fellow members of Latin IV.

Our New Organizations

Future Farmers Of America

The Shelbyville Chapter of the Future Farmers of America received its charter this year. The primary aim of F. F. A. is the development of agriculture leadership, cooperation, and citizenship.

Together with the agriculture class, the F. F. A. placed first in crop judging and second in poultry judging in the county.

This year's officers were as follows: Ned Ellison, president; Steve Kuhn, vice-president; Max McColley, secretary; Mike Dover, treasurer; James Jordan, reporter; and James Fisher, sentinel.

Mask And Dagger Plays

"Balcony Scene" and "The Happy Journey to Camden and Trenton" were the titles of the two plays which were presented by the Mask and Dagger Dramatic Club. These plays were chosen because they stimulated the imaginations of the student actors. The plays were unusual in the fact that the audience was asked to supply mentally those details which appeared to be lacking.

HOMEcoming COURT—Kathy Briggs, Ann Staats, Janet Wagner, Janet Stiles, Lynn Dellekamp, Cindy Mullen.

Homecoming Celebration Returned

Homecoming

One of the first social events which we hope will become traditional in the new Shelbyville High School is Homecoming. This year was the first year that the student body welcomed back the football team after the team played several games away from home.

Part of the Homecoming festivities was the crowning of the Homecoming queen. The queen, Janet Stiles, a junior, reigned over the evening and the Fall Wind-up Dance. Her court consisted of Janet Wagner and Lynn Dellekamp, seniors, Cindy Mullen, a junior, and Kathy Briggs and Ann Staats, sophomores.

A Homecoming dance was held in the cafeteria of our new school immediately after the football game. The dance was sponsored by the Student Council.

Ruth Ann Bausback and Brad Bishop

Donna Meloy and Bob Wetnight

Seven Popular Senior Girls

These seven senior girls and their escorts made up the thirty-seventh annual May Court. Members of the court are chosen by the votes of the senior class members. The queen is elected by a vote of the entire student body on the day of the festival. The selection of the May Queen is not revealed until the queen is notified to make her appearance before the spectators.

Ruth Ann Bausback and Brad Bishop

As a member of the varsity cheerleaders during her sophomore, junior, and senior years, Ruth Ann could be found at basketball and football games supporting the teams. Ruth Ann worked zealously as an office girl and was a typist for the SQUIB during her senior year.

Brad, a likeable fellow, was active in Hi-Y and S-Club during his junior and senior years. As a member of the cross-country team, Brad could always be counted on for his steadiness.

Donna Meloy and Bob Wetnight

Donna's pleasing personality and charming smile have won her many friends during her four years at S. H. S. This year Donna led the Senior Sunshine Society as its president and was quite active in the Future Nurses' Club, Forum, and the Student Council.

Her escort, Bob Wetnight, is a well-known figure at S. H. S. as a letterman of the football and basketball teams. Bob has also been active on the Student Council and was vice-president of Hi-Y.

Lynn Dellekamp and Jerry Andrews

Her cheerfulness and her pleasing manner have won Lynn much acclaim. Lynn was a member of the 1959 Prom Court and a senior member of the Homecoming Court. She also helped cheer our teams.

Lynn Dellekamp and Jerry Andrews

Dixie Linville and Steve Mohler

Rosie Tharpe and Jerry Landwerlen

to victory during her sophomore, junior, and senior years.

Jerry, a friendly guy, worked diligently on the SQUIB staff this year. Hi-Y, Cross-Country, Mask and Dagger, Concessions, and the Boys' Cheer Block were some of the activities in which Jerry participated.

Dixie Linville and Steve Mohler

As the head majorette, Dixie entertained spectators during half-time at basketball and football games throughout her high school career. Dixie, while maintaining her high scholastic standing, was an ardent worker during her senior year as the secretary-treasurer of the class.

Steve, an excellent scholar and a popular student, was elected president of the senior class and served on the Student Council Executive Committee. During his junior and senior years, Steve was a member of the varsity basketball team.

Rosie Tharpe and Jerry Landwerlen

Although Rosie's was a new face this year at S. H. S., she readily made friends and was heartily welcomed by the student body and by the faculty. Rosie was active in the Future Nurses' Club, the Sunshine Society, the Booster Club, and in Mask and Dagger.

In his senior year, Jerry served on the Student Council and the Student Council Executive Committee. As a member of the senior cap and gown committee, Jerry helped in the selection of the commencement robes.

Janet Wagner and Bob Adams

Janet, also noted for her outstanding scholarship, reigned as Prom Queen at the 1959 Junior and Senior Prom. Last fall she was one of the senior members on the Homecoming Court. As captain of the cheerleaders, Janet could be found at all the games boosting the basketball and football teams.

Her escort, Lord Mayor Bob Adams, had been active on the Student Council for three years and was this year's president. Bob acted as 1959-1960 president of Hi-Y.

Lou Anne Worland and Harold Stewart

Lou Anne's reputation as a talented dancer is well known in the community. She performed with the Goldenaires during her junior and senior years. Some other activities in which Lou Anne participated during her high school career were the Student Council, the Sunshine Society, the Booster Club, and Mask and Dagger.

Because of his contributions to baseball, basketball, football and track, Harold was a member of the S-Club and N.A.S.S. Playing in dance bands for civic affairs is a common event for Harold since he is also a good drummer.

The Festival Meant Hard Work

Claudia Barnes and Vickey Beckley practice a dance routine for the number, "Thank Heaven," presented at the May Festival this year.

This group of girls is practicing after school for the dance number to "Take Me Along," which was presented at this year's May Festival.

May Festival

The traditional Arch Dance, in which twenty junior girls participated, made an entrance way for the May Queen and her court. The Arch dancers were all dressed in white and carried arches which they had decorated.

The Rockettes, another traditional group, made a spectacular presentation of formations to the audience. Hard work and cooperation among the members of the chorus line contributed to the perfection of the dance.

Many of the musical selections for the dance numbers in this year's May Festival were from hit Broadway shows which were later made into motion pictures. Miss Martha Darby, a dancing instructor from Indianapolis, coached the students who participated in these dances.

The S. H. S. choir, under the direction of Martin Schulz, sang the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" as its feature number in the May Festival. The golden voices of the choir furnished the background music for the dance numbers of "Gigi" (which was danced by Carmen Coers and Fred Thomas), "Take Me Along" (danced by a group of girls), "Thank Heaven" (danced by an all girl group), and "Gary, Indiana" (danced by a group of three boys and three girls). Jan Scott, featured vocalist, began the evening by singing "Diane" and "Tammy."

The Goldenaires, S. H. S.'s dance band, provided music for the traditional Arch Dance and for the formations of the Rockettes. The newly formed Shelbyette group gave their interpretation of the theme, "Peter Gunn."

Under the direction of Fritz Chessner, the marching band went through several formations before ending with its traditional "S," at which time the Shelby school song was played.

1960 PROM COURT—Janice Metz and Phil Lackey, Cindy Mullen and Doug Lackey, Trudy Haley and Ted Honey.

1960 PROM'S THEME WAS "HARBOR LIGHTS"

"Harbor Lights" seemed to be an excellent choice for the theme of the 1960 Junior and Senior Prom, for the Paul Cross Gym was transformed into a waterside night club. Topping off the festive atmosphere, which made the dance a memorable occasion for all those who attended, was the Gary Miller Orchestra which provided music from 9:00 p.m. to 12:00 p.m. on the night of May 13.

Credit for the Prom itself went appropriately to the sponsors, the class officers, and members of the Prom committees — all of whom contributed tremendously to its success.

The high light of the dance was, of course, the crowning of the queen by the junior class president, Dick Schoelch; as a result, the "night club patrons" awaited the announcement of the selection of the queen with tense expectations.

Cindy Mullen, one of the three candidates elected to the court by votes of the junior boys, was escorted by Doug Lackey. Cindy was a member of G. A. A. and of Home Economics Club, and an S. H. S. yell leader.

The second yell leader on the court was Janice Metz, whose date for the evening was Phil Lackey. Janice worked actively in Booster Club, G. A. A., Future Teachers Club, Forum, and Sunshine Society.

Trudy Haley was escorted by Ted Honey; like the other girls on the court, Trudy also participated in extracurricular activities. Trudy has served as president of the Sophomore Sunshine Society, secretary of G. A. A., and a member of Forum and of Booster Club.

After the Prom, the upperclassmen scurried to the Elks Club for the annual Post-Prom Party, which was held until the wee hours of the morning. This party was planned, sponsored, and organized by civic service clubs and sororities. In addition to entertainment, free food and soft drinks were provided for all. This was a fitting climax to a wonderful evening.

Juniors and Seniors Whirled Around A

1959 Prom

On May 15, 1959, the Junior and Senior Prom was held in the midst of beautiful scenery, dim lights, and soft music provided by the Harold Turner Orchestra. The theme for the 1959 Prom was "Stairway to the Stars." The traditional ceremony and ethereal scenery made Prom night truly a "night to remember"!

Over this grand event, the queen, Janet Wagner, presided with her attendants, Lynn Dellekamp and Martha Davis; the escorts were Harold Stewart, Jerry Andrews, and Wendell Aldridge. The queen was elected by the junior boys, and the announcement was made that night.

The gym was truly a "stairway to the stars"; for the decoration committee, headed by Steve Janet Wagner, 1959 Junior-Senior Prom Queen.

Cloud-white Stairway At The '59 Prom

Mohler, had actually made an angel-hair stairway that extended some twenty feet into the air with clouds and glittering stars at its top and throughout the gym. It was lighted with aquamarine lights and surrounded with garlands of flowers. Panels along the west side and south end were painted with space constellations, signs of the zodiac, and various other scenes. Along the west panel, the court was seated in a penthouse setting with ferns entwined in a white railing and with a backdrop of a city skyline. The stage was decorated in blue and white crepe paper and stars.

Three boys and three girls from the sophomore class served refreshments; they were dressed in uniforms befitting the occasion. Serving as "Ye Old Astrologer" for the evening was Mrs. Ralph Adams.

Cafeteria

From 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. students could be seen hurrying on their ways to the cafeteria to indulge in nourishing, well-planned meals.

This year a snack line was added along with the regular cafeteria line. Sandwiches, potato chips, milk, assorted baked goods, and ice cream were served for those students who preferred this type of lunch.

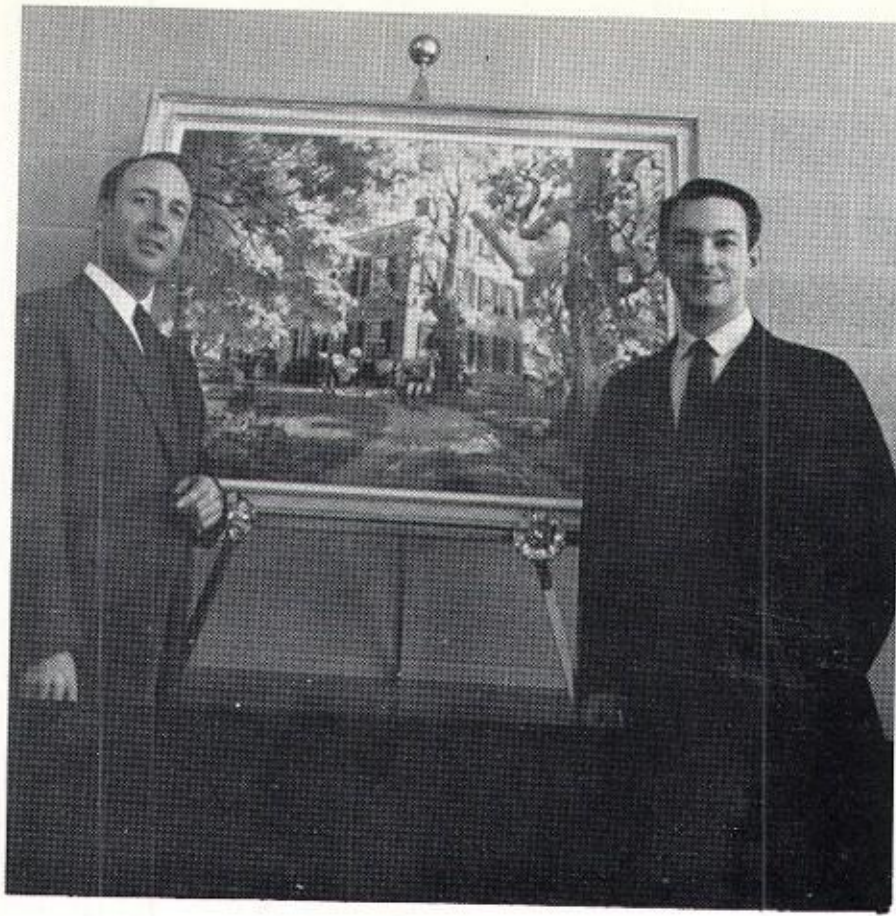

The dietitian, Avonelle Branson, planned meals, and oversaw the operation of the cafeteria. This year the cafeteria participated in the federal lunch program for schools.

Convocation

Mr. James Morris, a talented vocalist, visited Shelbyville High School in the fall of 1959 to entertain at a convocation. His past experiences in the field of music included a position in the original New York cast of My Fair Lady, the leading role in the Stephen Foster Story presented at the Stephen Foster Playhouse in Bardstown, Kentucky, and numerous television appearances.

Mr. Morris' tour was arranged by the Life Insurance Company of Kentucky. This company recently insured a painting of Stephen Foster's Old Kentucky Home by Haddon Sunblom in the amount of $100,000. The original painting was on display during the program, and later a small replica of it was presented to Mr. Sharp for display at S. H. S.

Being a native of Kentucky, Mr. Morris sang, with intense feeling, the folklore of his state and presented many of Stephen Foster's famous works.

Convocations And Fun

The Student Center

Everyone likes to relax at some time during the day and to get together with friends. The new student center provided these opportunities and also a chance for that thirst-quenching coke. At noon there was a candy counter which was rolled into one end of the center where many kinds of candy could be purchased. As might be expected, the student center proved to be a most popular spot for all!

Dave Thompson and Dick Schoelch prepare to buy candy during their lunch period from junior candy girls, Joan Kincaid and Trudy Haley.

FACULTY

One of the most integral parts of any school is its faculty. An educational institution such as Shelbyville High School could not function without its instructors.

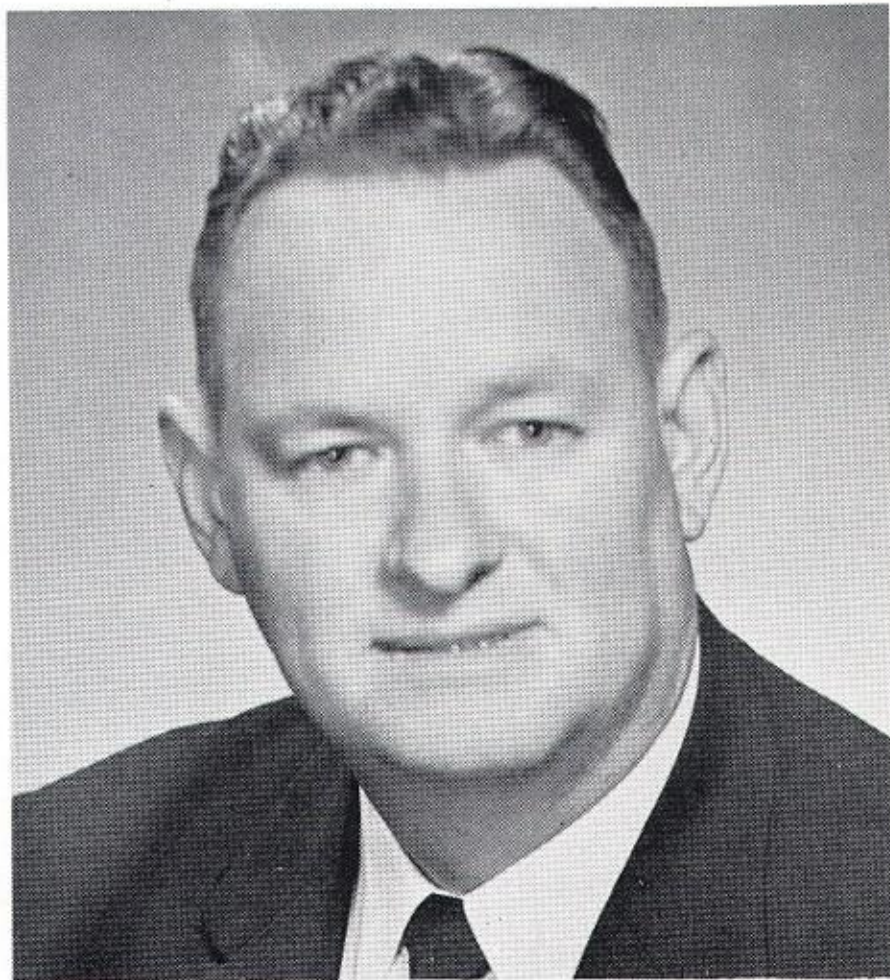

Our faculty has guided us (and, yes, pushed us!) in our explorations in the field of knowledge throughout our high school careers. Now, upon graduation, we realize that our faculty's persistence has brought us to this high peak in our lives. To our faculty we say a very inadequate "thank you."

SENIORS

As the members of the senior class received their diplomas, they left behind them the years of adventure and fun found only in a high school; but they eagerly anticipated the future — its challenges, its happiness, and its pleasures.

In the years that lie ahead, they will discover many phases of life which no other generation has had the opportunity of exploring. In this nuclear age, many difficulties will confront them; it is their duty and privilege to carry on this exploration to the very best of their abilities.

Committees Helped Plan Our Senior Year

Many committees, appointed by Steve Mohler, senior class president, and approved by Mr. Sharp, participated in the plans for the senior year.

The Commencement Committee planned for the graduating ceremonies.

Decorating and arranging chairs at the gym for the ceremonies was the job of the Commencement Decoration Committee.

The Senior Announcement Committee met with a representative of the Josten Company and selected the type of announcement to be used by the senior class.

Choosing the colors and type of material for the commencement robes was the job of the Cap and Gown Committee.

The picnic committees organized the senior picnic held the last of May at Brown County. The Site, Chaperone, Entertainment, and Transportation committees worked together to make the affair a big success.

Outstanding Seniors

Lord Mayor

Bob Adams was active in almost every phase of school life. He participated in athletics, Forum, Hi-Y, S-Club, and Mask and Dagger. During his junior year, he won the D. A. R. American History Award for maintaining the highest average in history. He served for three years as a member of Student Council and was the 1959-1960 president. Because of his high scholastic rank in his class and because of his participation in activities, it can be said that he is truly a well-rounded student.

Kay Crafton—Valedictorian

Kay, the 1960 Valedictorian, has been active in Sunshine, Forum, Robed Choir, and G. A. A. She was also elected to the National Honor Society in her senior year. She has spent much time in extracurricular activities but has still been able to achieve an excellent scholastic record.

D. A. R. Award

This year the winner of the D. A. R. award was Judy Swain. Judy was also the county D. A. R. award winner and was eligible for state competition.

Upon graduation from high school, Judy plans to attend Ball State Teachers College, where she will study to become a mathematics teacher. During her high school career, Judy has been active in the Future Teachers' Club, Booster Club, Sunshine, G. A. A., and Future Nurses' Club.

National Merit Scholarship

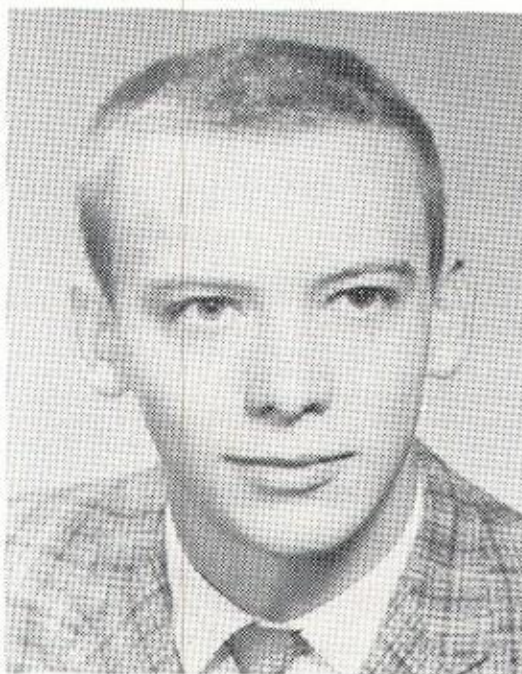

Stewart Ryan was named as a National Merit Scholarship finalist. The Class of 1960 was proud to have one of its members in the final round of competition. Stewart maintained a high scholastic average, yet he found time to be active in many extracurricular activities.

Commercial Award

The Commercial Award, which was instituted in 1928, discontinued in 1957, and resumed this year was given to Janet Wagner. Commercial grades, other high school grades, and personality — which included initiative, cooperation, ability to follow directions, self-control, and attitude toward school — were the factors upon which the selection was based. It was indeed an honor to be the recipient of this monetary gift ($50) that was bestowed on the outstanding commercial student of the year by the Business and Professional Women's Club.

DELEGATES TO THE WORLD AFFAIRS INSTITUTE—
Judy Jones and Bob Adams.

World Affairs Institute

Judy Jones and Bob Adams were S. H. S.'s representatives at the annual World Affairs Institute, which was held this year on March 19-20 in Cincinnati. The theme for the institute was "World Disarmament." Bob and Judy qualified for this honor because of their high scores on a current events test.

UNDERCLASSMEN

As long as there are schools, there will always be underclassmen. While these students are not high men on the totem pole, they are a very important part of the school. The early training given to underclassmen provides them with the necessary background and knowledge for advancement in the field of education.

Throughout their search into this vast field of education, underclassmen should profit from past mistakes and experiences. High school provides guidance and preparation for a future of further explorations.

ORGANIZATIONS

Organizations play an essential part in school life, and S. H. S. has many clubs and organizations which execute activities of all kinds. This year the number of clubs in our high school increased by two, bringing the total to twenty-seven.

In this way, almost everyone had an opportunity to explore the fields of his special interests and to extend his learning to areas beyond the regular academic courses. Also, the individuals who participated in the activities of these organizations learned some of the essential characteristics of cooperation, of leadership, and of other abilities needed for one's life upon the completion of the high school career.

Student Council Helped Us Organize

Student Council

The Student Council, organized five years ago, is a leading service organization at S. H. S. The best description of the purpose of this organization is stated in the preamble to the Student Council's constitution: "To establish a medium of association and cooperation with the principal and the faculty on school matters; to encourage and promote a finer school spirit; to create respect and ambition for high scholastic attainment; and to further the general welfare of this high school."

This year the council was composed of a group of twenty-one elected home room representatives. In addition to these, ex officio members were the three class presidents and the editor of the SQUIB.

The 1959-60 officers were as follows: Bob Adams, president; Dan Compton, vice-president; Pat Myer, recording secretary; Kathy Briggs, corresponding secretary; Bob Wetnight, treasurer; and Pat McComas, parliamentarian. The sponsors this year were especially helpful to the Student Council. The faculty advisors were Rita Fern Comstock and Frank Barnes.

The sponsors and student council members carried out many useful projects and services during the year; some of these projects were establishing a suggestion box, writing a code of conduct, endeavoring to improve scholarship, and sponsoring the Fall Wind-up Dance and Homecoming ceremonies, along with other social events.

Executive Committee of Student Council

The Student Council, in one of their meetings, discusses plans for the "Tramp Dance" to be held on April 1.

The Executive Committee of the Student Council is the top student policy-making body of the school. It acts as a steering committee for the Student Council. All matters of importance are first brought before the Executive Committee. Matters of little significance may be dealt with and disposed of by this committee. Thus, before each meeting of the Student Council, an Executive Committee meeting is held to discuss the agenda, problems, and future projects.

The members of this committee are the officers of Student Council, the class presidents, the SQUIB editor, and one additional member from each class, elected from the Student Council. The sponsors for Student Council are also the sponsors for this organization.

Projects of the Executive Committee are similar to those of the Council, for the two groups cooperate in every conceivable way; but the steering committee does have the important power of proposing amendments to the Student Council's constitution.

And Adjust To Our New School

Our Honorary Organizations

National Honor Society

Each year fifteen per cent of the upper twenty-five per cent of the senior class is elected to the National Honor Society. Membership is based on scholastic class rank, service, leadership, and character.

Service is defined as a willingness to render cheerfully and enthusiastically any service to the school.

Leadership is interpreted to mean the demonstration of initiative in the classroom and in extracurricular activities.

A student may gain recognition in character by meeting his individual obligations to the school promptly and completely; he must demonstrate constantly certain qualities of personality, honesty, reliability, promptness, achievement, and morality which are indispensable to the finest adult status.

Each year in the spring, new members are honored with a dinner and program held by the S. H. S. alumni Honor Society members.

Since all the qualifications for membership in the Honor Society will play an important part in future lives, such membership is something toward which every student should work. Should he gain it, he should be very proud!

Underclassmen, please note! The qualifications for membership — grades, leadership, service, and character — are considered for all your high school years; therefore you are determining your eligibility at the present time.

Congratulations to the 1959-60 members of National Honor Society!

Forum and Radio Club

Forum

This year the Forum consisted of forty-four juniors and seniors who were interested in the world's affairs. Membership in the Forum is based upon the student's active participation in a discussion group, a training organization for underclassmen.

The Forum met on Tuesday evenings in the school library. The purposes of the Forum are to promote serious, constructive thinking; to help members learn to express themselves and their ideas clearly and forcefully; to contribute to and acquire information from each other; and to develop the ability to analyze and evaluate the ideas of others.

The sponsor of the Forum is Ray Hinshaw; this year he was assisted by Ronald Abrell.

Radio Club

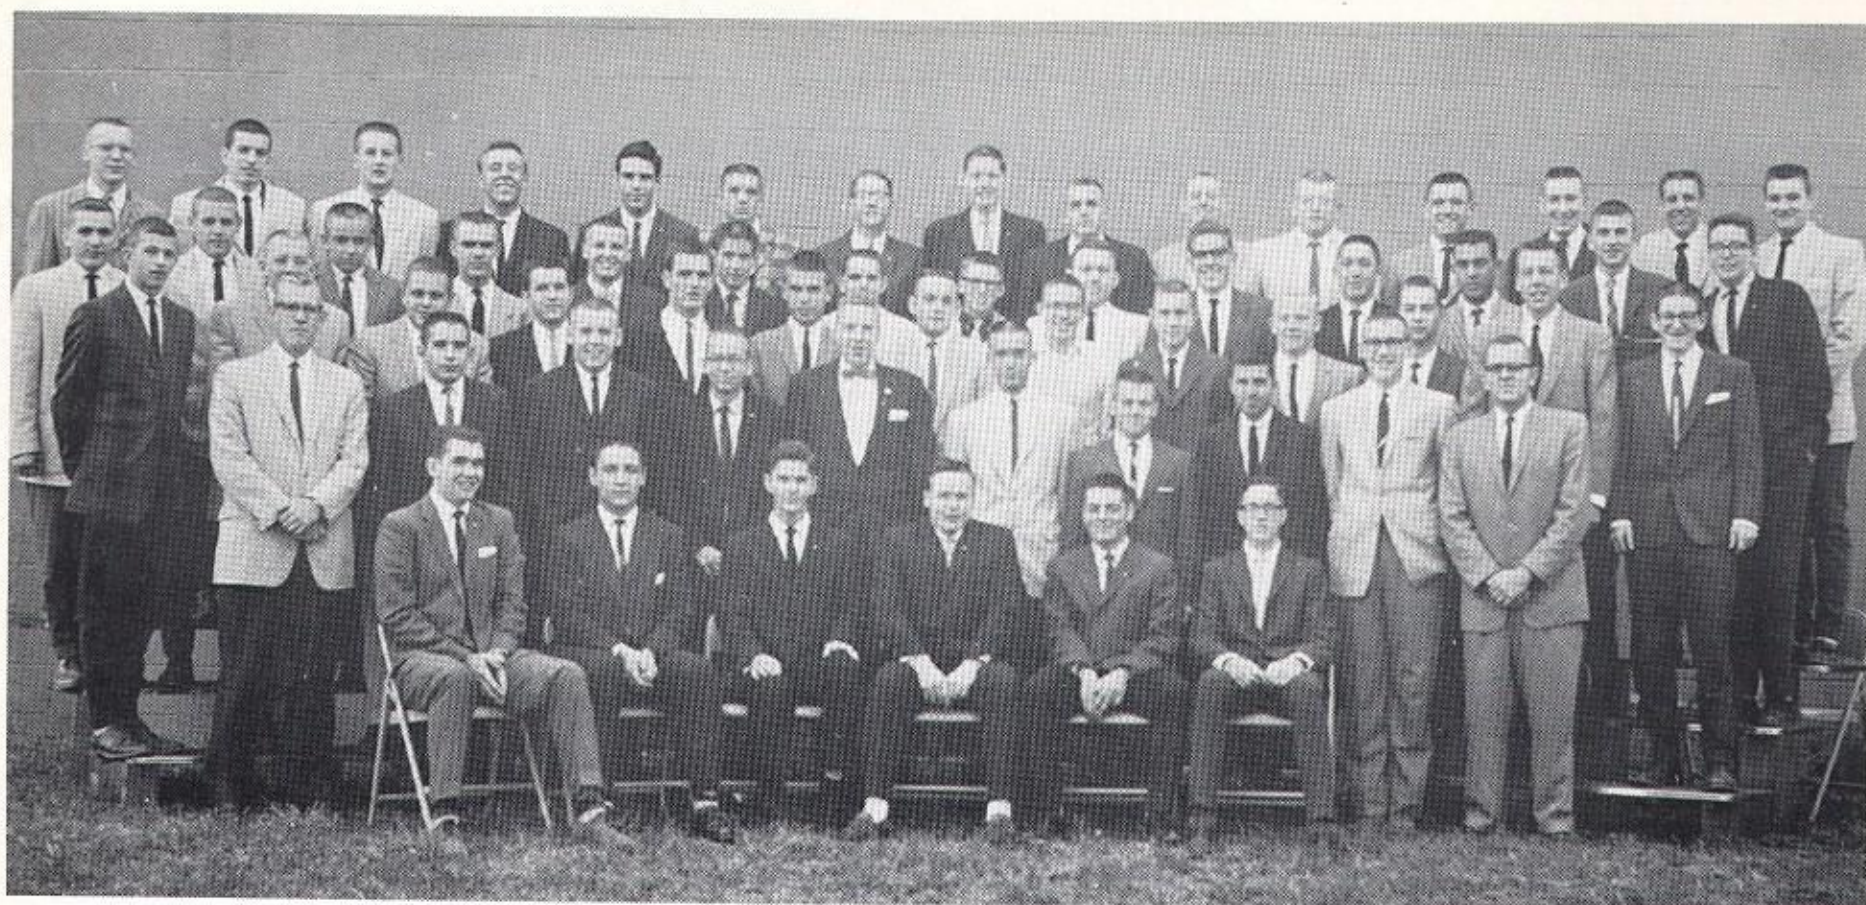

The Radio Club has become a well-established school organization since its start five years ago. The club, under the direction of its faculty sponsor, Melvin L. Davies, operated an amateur radio station under the club call letters, K9GLV. With a complement of seven licensed amateurs, the club's activities included participation in a national emergency preparedness test and outfitting the new radio "shack" adjacent to the metal shop. The officers for the year 1959-60 were as follows: David Smith, president; Roger Whitcomb, vice-president; John Comstock, secretary; and David Tomeo, treasurer.

Hi-Y Started A Weekly Prayer

HI-Y

Hi-Y, a branch of the Y. M. C. A., has as its purpose: "To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character." Also, Hi-Y has become a strong advocate of good, clean sportsmanship in athletics.

This year the organization increased its activities. It continued the traditional Thanksgiving and Easter programs, the coat-checking service at the basketball games, and the Father-Son Banquet; in addition, it also handled the sale of used school books, held a dance for Hi-Y members, and gave a weekly prayer over the public address system.

One of the high points of a truly successful year was the initiation of fifty new Hi-Y members in October. After the ceremony in the cafeteria, Rev. Ronald Felty, minister of the First Presbyterian Church, spoke. Sponsoring this group were Robert Clapp and Loren Hemingway.

Sunshine Society Purchased Paintings

Sunshine Society

The purposes of the Sunshine Society are to promote the social welfare of the girls and to acquaint them with civic and social service work.

The various projects of the organization were the selling of candy, visiting the County Home, and visiting the hospital. The Senior Sunshine Society held its annual Mother and Daughter Tea in May. The society purchased for the school two oil paintings from a local artist, Mrs. John Duffy. These pictures are attractively displayed in the front corridor which joins the two buildings.

The Sunshine Cabinet was composed of the officers of the senior, junior, and sophomore societies and their sponsors. The Senior Sunshine Society was directed by the following people: Donna Meloy, president; Ruth Ann Bausback, vice-president; Dixie Linville, secretary; Rita Sandman, treasurer; and Blanche Ashby, sponsor. President of the Junior Sunshine Society was Loretta Sutton; Janet Stiles served as vice-president; and Janet Hester was secretary-treasurer. Sponsoring this group was Lorena Williams. The Sophomore Sunshine Society was under the leadership of the following girls: Susan Cord, president; Judy Owens, vice-president; and Pat McComas, secretary-treasurer. Their new sponsor this year was Jane Durrenberger.

Our New Dramatic Club

Mask and Dagger

An organization which has been formed this year is Mask and Dagger. For several years there has been an awakening interest in drama in Shelbyville High School. It is believed that the formation of the Mask and Dagger

Dramatic Club will stimulate thespian activity in our community.

The sponsor of Mask and Dagger is J. Daniel Kocher.

Home Economics Club Sold Candy

Home Economics Club

The Home Economics Club began its activities last fall by having a general initiation and by holding its annual Christmas tea for the faculty.

The money making project of the club was the selling of candy in November and December.

The qualifications for membership in this organization were one year of home economics training and a willingness to participate in all club functions.

This year Jan Scott headed the organization as president; Kay Thurston was vice-president; and Pat Myer served as secretary-treasurer. Jessie Bodem was the sponsor of the Home Economics Club.

This is a scene from "Open House." On that occasion, the Home Economics Club served punch in the cafeteria to all the spectators who visited our new school.

F. T. A. Held Panel Discussions

FUTURE TEACHERS OFFICERS—Bob Wetnight, vice-president; Mary Stuart, secretary-treasurer; Steve Mohler, president.

Future Teachers Of America

A club with a very bright outlook is the Future Teachers of America Club. Because of the present shortage of qualified educators, those students who plan to become teachers will find great opportunities for success in their fields after they graduate from college.

Since there was a lack of transportation to and from the grade schools, few of the members were able to do cadet teaching this year. During the year, the group was shown several films concerning the teaching profession and held panel discussions. The panel members were composed of elementary and high school teachers who answered questions for the members pertaining to college, salary, and job opportunities after graduation.

Louis Kuhn sponsored this group.

Future Nurses "Manned" The Clinic

Future Nurses' Club

The Future Nurses' Club acquainted members interested in nursing with the duties, the qualifications, and the experiences of nurses. Through films and talks by R. N.'s, the girls learned more about this vital profession. Nellie Strait, a co-sponsor with Doloris McDonald, gave the girls guidance in choosing their nursing schools.

Since moving to the new school, the Future Nurses' Club took on a new task; a member of the club was on duty each hour of the school day in the school's clinic. The girls kept records for the clinic office and rendered assistance in many other ways. As in the past, the Future Nurses' Club members worked at the Major Hospital after school.

FUTURE NURSES' OFFICERS—Row 1: Judy Swain, secretary; Lynne Bramwell, vice-president; Anne Kuhn, president. Row 2: Sandy Anderson, treasurer; Janet Wagner, historian.

Library Club

The Library Club was composed of girls who volunteered their study session time to help Olive Kinsley, the librarian.

Some of their duties were checking books in and out, replacing books on shelves, and tracking down overdue books. The members, too, straightened books on the shelves and helped students find books.

The club elected officers and met during convocation periods. Its aim was to create a pleasant atmosphere for the students who used the library.

The officers were as follows: president, Joan Daniels; vice-president, Sue Caffee; secretary, Nancy Bishopp; and treasurer, Judy Hewitt. Joanna Gardner is chairman of the social committee; the chairman of the program committee is Sandra Kelso.

These Students Gave Study Session Time

Office Girls

Typing, answering the phone, and running errands were only a few of the duties of the office girls who assisted Goldie Craige in the senior high school office. In most cases, the girls were selected from the advanced commerce class. They were chosen on the bases of ability, scholarship, responsibility, and personality. Mrs. Craige and all of her girls seemed to be well pleased with the new office.

Concessionaires Sold Refreshments

Concessions

Under the direction of Lawrence "Boots" Thompson, this group's purpose was to help finance the SQUIB. He was assisted by Mike Kettler, business manager, and Dan Compton, concessions manager.

The trademarks for the members of this group were white blouses, dark skirts, and yellow aprons for the girls; the boys wore gray aprons.

These concession helpers could be found at any home basketball game selling their wares — cokes, popcorn, and ice cream.

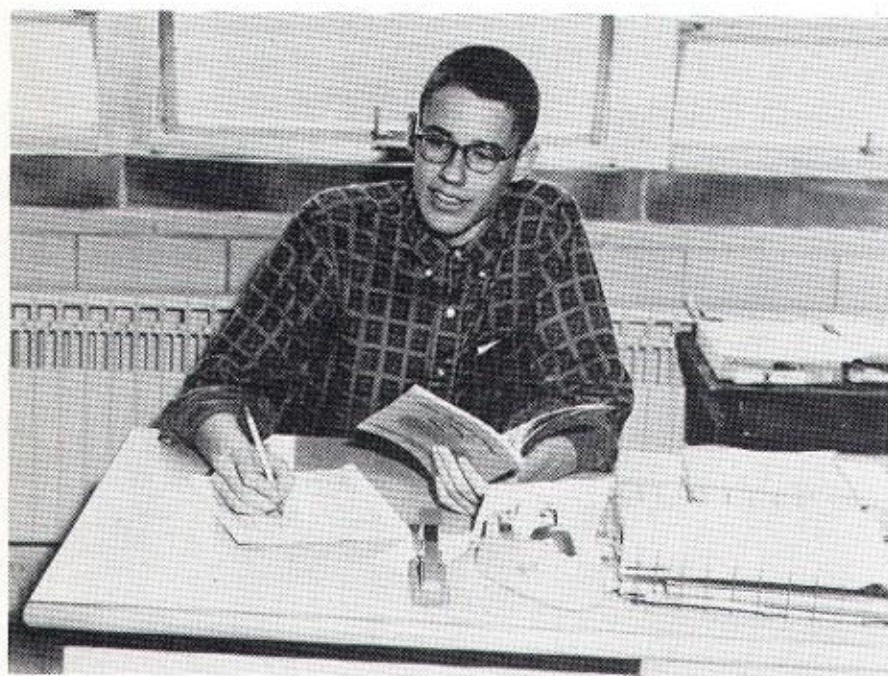

Dan Compton, concessions manager, counts some of the money from the sale of cokes, popcorn, and candy at basketball games.

SQUIB Staff Found A New Home

Stewart Ryan, assistant business manager, checks his list of patronage for the SQUIB with the telephone book.

Squib Staff

Moving from the third floor of the old high school to their attractive new home on the second floor of the new high school, the members of the SQUIB staff were to be found throughout the academic year busily working and planning for the 1960 SQUIB.

The business staff's function was to raise enough money to pay for the annual. They seemed to be everywhere, selling advertising, boosting subscription sales, writing receipts, and checking on ice, cokes, ice cream, and popcorn to be sold at the ball games.

The editorial staff arranged for the commercial photographer's and the student photographer's photos, cut pictures down to the right proportions and mounted them, collaborated with the SQUIB artist, wrote and rewrote copy, and scuttled back and forth to the printer's.

Sponsoring the SQUIB editorial staff was Carol Snyder Marshall and sponsoring the business staff was Lawrence "Boots" Thompson.

Although there was much work (and much fun, too!) involved in the preparation of the SQUIB, the staff derived a great deal of pleasure from seeing their labors grow into a finished product.

It is the sincere wish of all the staff members and the sponsors that you, our readers, will enjoy reading your 1960 SQUIB as much as we enjoyed planning, preparing, and editing it for you!

COURIER Staff Printed the School News

The Courier

The members of this staff (the journalism class) have the privilege of writing and editing the school paper, THE COURIER. Each year the members of the journalism class visit THE SHELBYVILLE NEWS to see a commercial newspaper in action and to pick up helpful hints for producing their paper.

THE SHELBYVILLE NEWS also awards scholarships to two junior journalism students who show the most ability in newspaper writing. A scholarship entitles its winner to attend the annual High School Journalism Institute, Newspaper Division, held in the summer months at Indiana University in Bloomington, Indiana. This year the winners of these scholarships were John Comstock and John Alexander. They were the authors of the high school news column in THE SHELBYVILLE NEWS.

The band membership, under the direction of Francis "Fritz" Chesser, consisted of senior high school students. Assuming an important role in keeping school spirit high by playing at all football and basketball games, the band also provided the music for all the award programs held at the gymnasium, participated in the annual Christmas program, and presented a concert for the general public which was held in March.

The band was governed by the band council made up of the officers of the band and students who had won the privileges of playing first chairs in their particular group of instruments. Band officers were as follows: Dave Burgess, president; Steve McGrew, vice-president, and Sharon Longstreet, secretary-treasurer.

The Goldenaires, dance band members, played for many school-sponsored dances and sock hops and presented shows at various social clubs for special events in Shelbyville. The dance band contracted to play for dances at other schools throughout the county. Their show consisted of several dance numbers, a featured vocalist, and a baton twirling exhibition plus the usual instrumental music.

A new attraction was added to the half-time intermissions during basketball and football games this year. Organized under the direction of Francis Chesser, the Shelbyettes, a precision marching and dancing group, presented routines for the enjoyment of all.

Too, the majorettes played a very key part in the half-time entertainment at sport events. They performed intricate twirling routines which required much practice and skill. The majorettes won second place this year in the district contest held at Southport High School; individual twirlers won second place ribbons for their twirling.

Because of their contribution of color and glamor to sport events and school life in general, the bands, the majorettes, and the Shelbyettes should be lauded for their performances.

Vocal Groups Helped Arrange

The robed choir, directed by Martin Schulz, consisted of eighty voices. The choir performs at Thanksgiving, Christmas, Easter, the Sacred Concert, Baccalaureate, local service clubs' meetings, and at neighboring schools.

The choir room in the new building is air-cooled, has elevated risers, and is fairly sound-proof. There are three practice rooms adjoining the choir room.

Officers of the choir were as follows: president, Dee Bonner; vice-president, Rita Sandman; and secretary-treasurer, Dave Burgess. Becky Moore and Marilyn Nay were the accompanists.

The Singing Stars was a group consisting of thirteen girls who were selected by Martin Schulz, the director. The qualifications for membership were voice quality, personality, and showmanship.

This year the Singing Stars won first place in the district competition and also in the state competition. Rita Sandman was the president;

Programs Over The Intercom

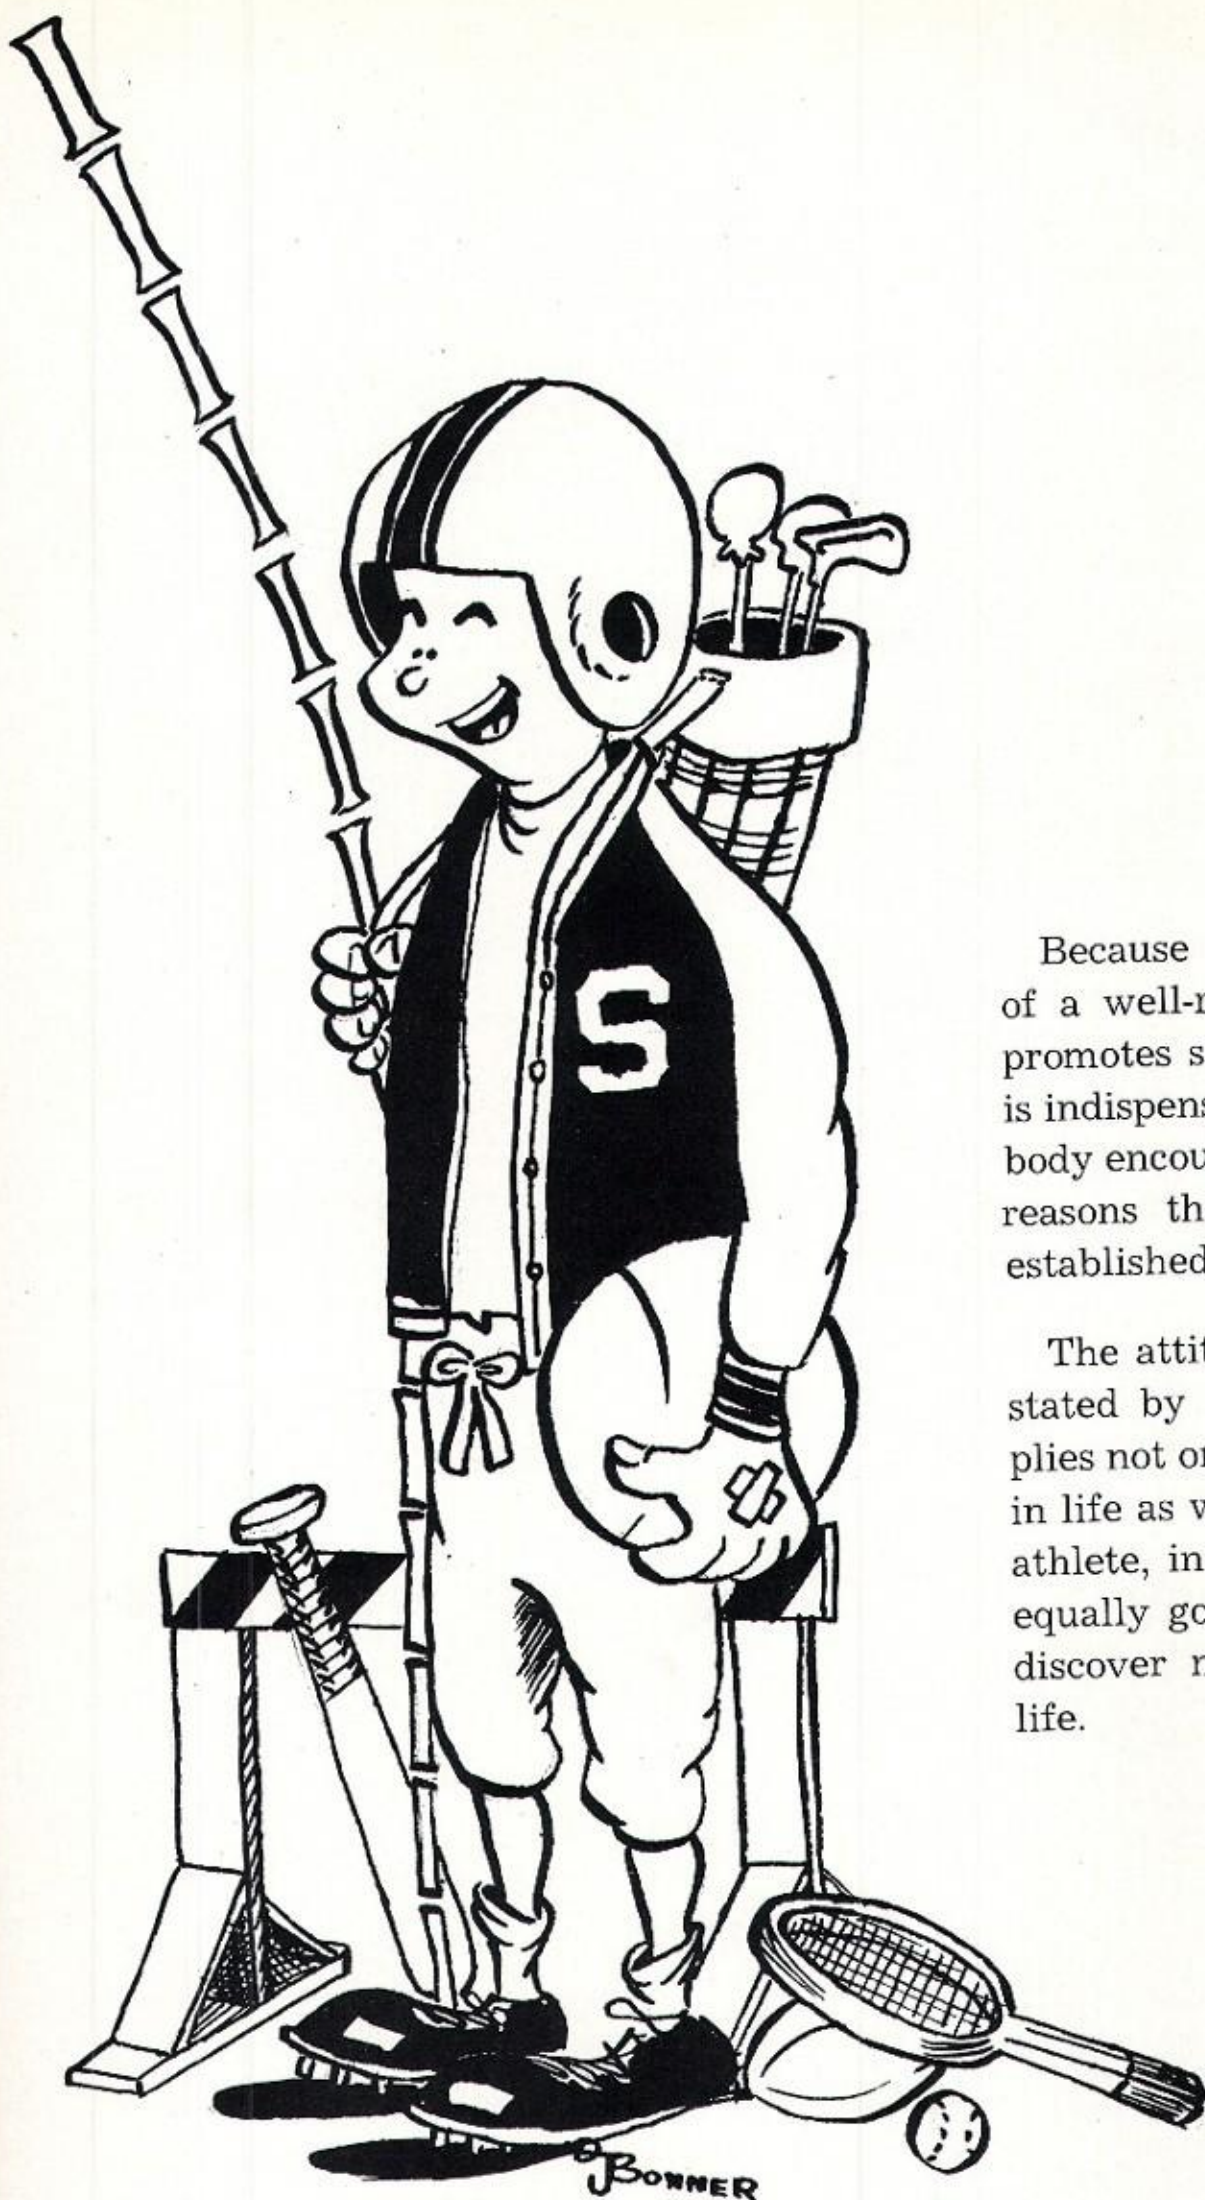

Anne Kuhn was the vice-president; Marilyn Nay was the secretary-treasurer; and Judy Jones was the librarian. The accompanist was Becky Moore.

The eighteen members of the Boys' Glee Club were chosen on the bases of voice quality, personality, and showmanship. The Glee Club placed first in district competition and second in state competition. Officers who served this group were as follows: Dee Bonner, president;

Mike Bansbach, vice-president; and Dave Burgess, secretary-treasurer.

The Show Group is composed of the Singing Stars and twelve members of the Boys' Glee Club. This group performed for service clubs' meetings, sororities' functions, and for several other organizations. The members of this group gave up many of their study sessions and evenings; however, they received invaluable experience in presenting their programs publicly and derived much enjoyment from it.

SPORTS

Because of its contribution to the formation of a well-rounded personality and because it promotes school spirit, the athletic department is indispensable. It has been said that a healthy body encourages a healthy mind. It is for these reasons that athletics has become so firmly established in our high school.

The attitude of "giving an honest effort," as stated by Frank Barnes, athletic director, applies not only to athletics but to our exploration in life as well. We can readily see that a good athlete, in most instances, will prove to be an equally good citizen; for what we explore and discover now serves as a guidepost for later life.

5-3 Record Scored

Football

In his second year as varsity football coach, Robert Zimny started the boys' training early in August and led the team through a successful season. Assisting Coach Zimny was Vaughn Drake.

This year's football squad gave S. H. S. fans a lot of very thrilling moments.

The team, after the Jamboree at Columbus, won their first two games of the campaign by upsetting Jeffersonville and by coming back the next week to win over Connersville. Going into a slump, the squad lost three road games in a row; but they finished the season by winning three home games. In the S. C. C., Shelbyville High School's football squad ranked fourth.

Kiwanis Award

Doug Lackey, a senior three bar letter man in football, was the recipient of the highly coveted Kiwanis Award.

This award is given each year to the most valuable player on the varsity football team. Sportsmanship and mental attitude during the season are also major factors which are considered in the presentation of this honor.

In addition to playing football, Doug has played three years of varsity basketball and baseball. He was a member of the golf and track teams, of the Junior Prom Committee, of the National Athletic Scholarship Society, of the Boys' Cheer Block, and of Hi-Y; Doug served as president of the S-Club during 1959-60.

Reserve Football Team

The reserve football team, coached by Eugene McNew, won its first game but lost the remaining two games of the season. Nevertheless, the members of the team gained a great deal of experience and should be strong prospects for next year's varsity squad.

The Golden Bear “Hardwooders”

Basketball

The Golden Bears had two new coaches added to their staff this year. Loren “Hank” Hemingway took over the position of assistant varsity coach, and L. D. Shippy coached the freshman team.

The Bears had their up’s and down’s this season. They dropped two close games — one to Madison and one to Bloomington. (These two teams were rated in the top ten in the state.) S. H. S.’s team was in fifth place in the South Central Conference at the end of the basketball season.

Doug Lackey gets a shot away in spite of the efforts of a Crispus Attucks player.

Paul Cross Award

To win the coveted Paul Cross Award is the fondest dream of every varsity basketball player. The award was established in 1919 by Reverend S. J. Cross in honor of his son, Paul, who was a captain of an S. H. S. basketball team and the first Shelby County boy to die in action during World War I. The qualifications for the award are based upon athletic ability, character, sportsmanship, and scholarship.

Doug Lackey, a senior Golden Bear forward, and a member of the All Conference Team, was presented the forty-first annual Paul Cross Award. However, this was the forty-seventh medal given because of the fact that more than one player has received it simultaneously in previous years. Doug also received the captain's star by vote of his fellow teammates. In addition to playing varsity basketball for three years, Doug participated in several other sports.

Minor Sports

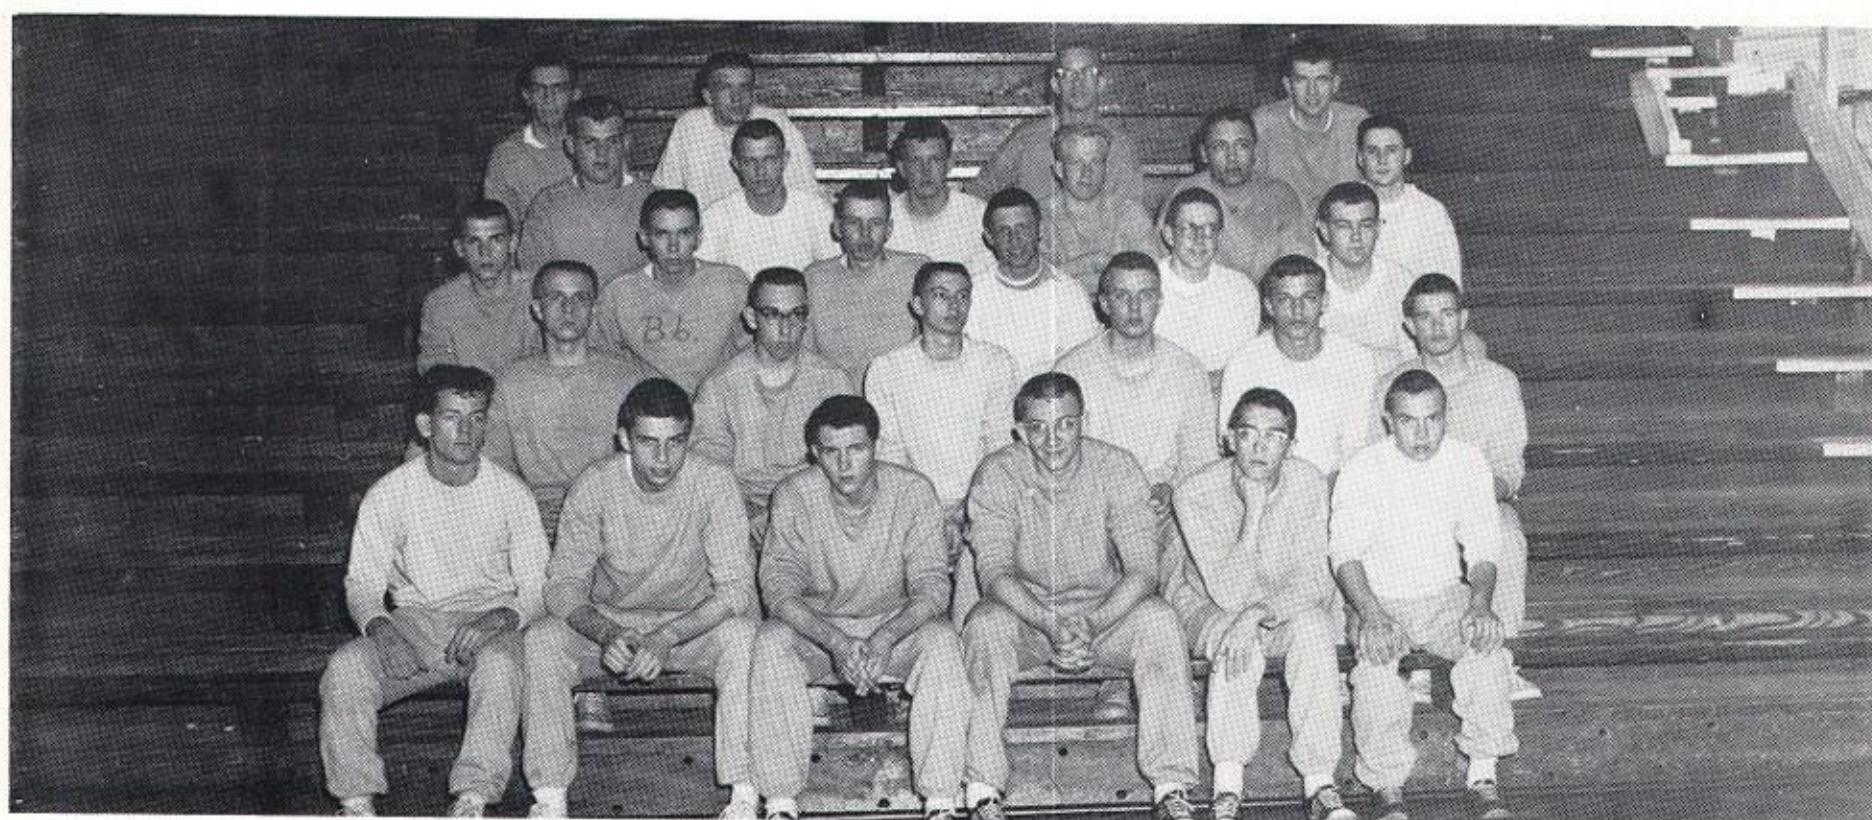

Baseball

One of the best signs that spring had come was the beginning of practice for spring sports. Under the baseball coach, Arthur "Doc" Barnett, the varsity baseball team, with several returning lettermen, was a strong contender in the South Central Conference this year. Competent new material was available for use on this year's baseball diamond, too.

Track

The track team, coached by Bob Zimny, had several returning lettermen and many new track candidates which resulted in a fine season.

Cross-Country

This year's cross-county team placed seventh in the S. C. C. meet — one notch higher than last year. They copped dual meets with Franklin and Greensburg and won a three-way meet against Triton and Southwestern.

The team lost five of its members through graduations, but its nucleus for next year will consist of several lettermen.

Tennis

Participating in the conference tennis meet held at Columbus this year were mostly underclassmen and first-year men. The next season offers a challenge to the team since it lost only two players through graduations.

Golf

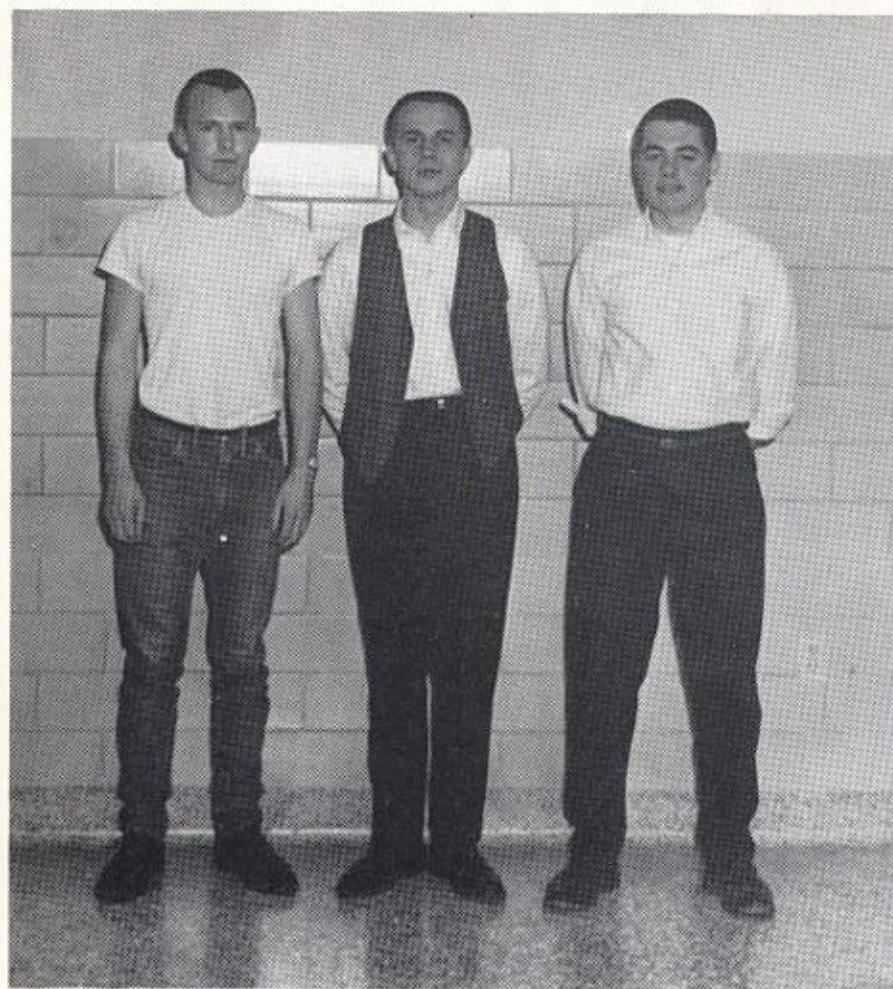

The golf team, with a score of 353, placed fourth in the South Central Conference Championship Meet held at Connersville. North Thurston led the team with a score of 85.

The team competed in a second meet in the spring; this was considered the "Sectional" of golf.

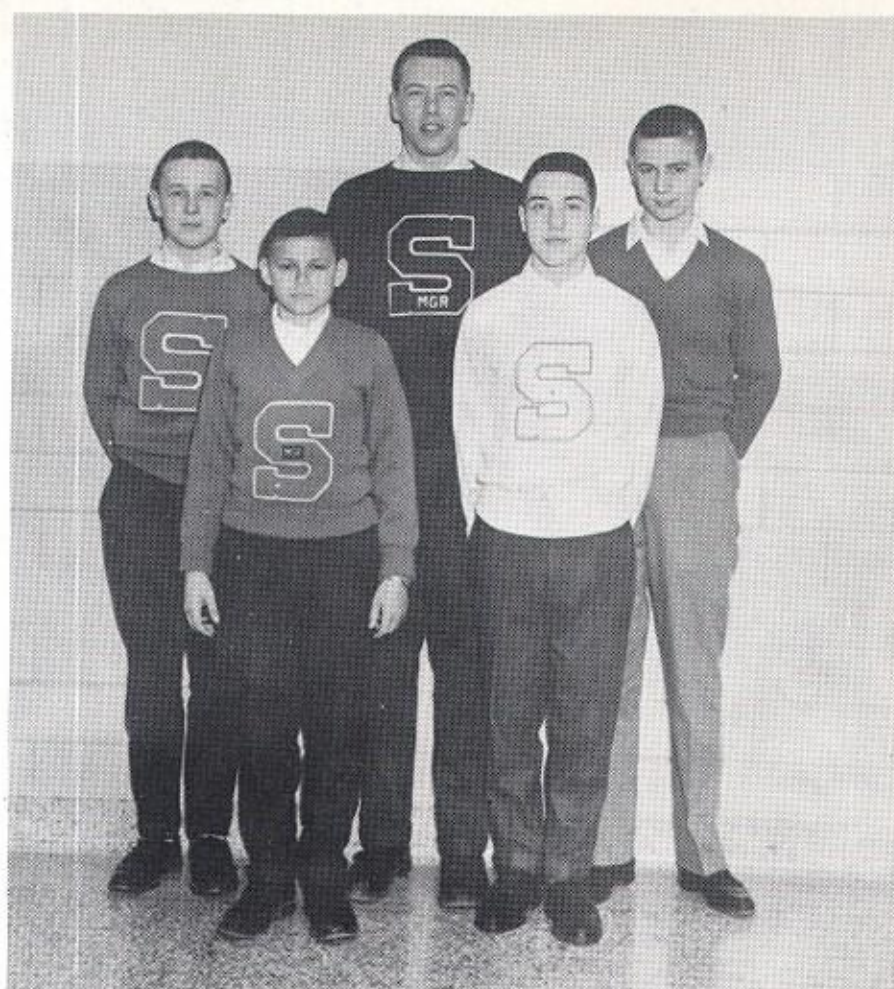

Frank Barnes, athletic director, was the coach of the team.

Girls' Athletic Ass'n. And S-Club

Girl's Athletic Association

S-Club

Under the sponsorship of Betty Ramey, G. A. A. promotes sports and physical fitness for high school girls. Girls in G. A. A. play basketball, softball, volleyball, and bowl. The girls also participate in intramural and intermural sports. By passing tests and by participating in various sports, the G. A. A. girls earn different awards: pins, letters, or plaques.

The officers are as follows: president, Dixie Linville; vice-president, Cindy Mullen; secretary, Trudy Haley; treasurer, Lynne Bramwell; point captain, Kay Crafton; and assistant point captain, Bonnie Hall.

The S-Club is composed of a group of boys who hold a varsity letter, an 81 per cent or more scholastic average, and the unanimous approval of the club's membership.

The club's purpose is to aid the athletic program; among other things, the club handled concessions at football games with the help of six girls selected by the club. They cleaned and polished the trophies exhibited in the gym. The social affairs consisted of a spring picnic and a fall initiation "feast." Arthur "Doc" Barnett sponsored the S-Club.

Boys' Cheer Block Promoted School Spirit

Boys' Cheer Block

The Boys' Cheer Block, enjoying its second year at S. H. S., consisted of a group of eighty-nine students whose purpose was to promote school spirit at basketball and football athletic contests. By dressing alike and by sitting together at the games, the block members gave effective support to the teams.

Any Shelbyville High School boy is eligible for membership if he conducts himself in an acceptable manner at the ball games. The leaders this year were as follows: John Wolfe, president; Jim Sleeth, vice-president; and Dennis Bonner, secretary-treasurer. This organization collaborated with John Wolfe and Jack Addison, who directed yells for the group. Ray Beck, the sponsor, worked closely with the club, also.

This is one organization that really accomplished its purpose in a big way. Many people believe that it has helped school spirit and enthusiasm very much and that it will continue to be effective in the future.

N. A. S. S.—Row 1: Gary Hume, Mark Mount, Gerald Templin, Bob Wetnight, Tom Graham. Row 2: Steve Foster, Dick Schoelch, C. M. Hepp, Phil Lackey, Steve Mohler, Forrest Theobald, Doug Lackey. Row 3: Bill Pittman, John Alexander, Dwain Myer, Kenny Perkins, Mike Mount, Jack Addison, Bob Adams, Steve Totten.

N. A. S. S.

A group of varsity athletes who have achieved a scholastic average of 87 per cent or more are members of the National Athletic Scholarship Society.

The purpose of the N. A. S. S. is to give recognition to those students who excel in both athletics and scholarship; thus it is an honorary organization with no officers or regular meetings. These students are some of the most admired students in the school because of their outstanding achievements. It is not surprising that the initiation of N. A. S. S. members has become one of the high lights of the spring Awards Day Program.

Girls' Booster Club

Sitting together in a cheering section, the girls in their costumes, black and gold capes with white gloves, have been very successful in elevating the school's spirit at our home basketball games. This year there were approximately 150 members. Committees made posters and decorated the gym for the pre-sectional sock hop in order to raise school spirit and morale.

The officers of this year's booster club were as follows: Lynne Bramwell, president; Faye Cole, vice-president; Emily McKeand, secretary; and Anne Kuhn, treasurer.

The booster club was sponsored by Betty Ramey, girls' physical education instructor.

VARSIITY CHEERLEADERS—Ruth Ann Bausback, Janet Wagner, Cindy Mullen, Janice Metz, Lynn Dellekamp.

The Cheerleaders Boost School Spirit

RESERVE CHEERLEADERS—Ann Ewing, Dotty Owens, Barbara Hey, Shari Long.

Yell Leaders

Again this year, Shelbyville elected five girls to lead the cheers for them. There was only one new addition to the varsity squad — Janice Metz, a junior. Ruth Ann Bausback, Lynn Dellekamp, and Janet Wagner are all seniors and have been on the squad for three years. Cindy Mullen, a junior, has led cheers for Shelby for two years.

The girls did their best, along with the support of the Booster Club and Boys' Cheer Block, to keep up the morale of the team whether they won or lost.

Supporting the B-Team were Ann Ewing, Barbara Hey, Shari Long, and Dotty Owens who also encouraged the teams at the Shelbyville Junior High School.

Betty Ramey is the sponsor of the yell leaders.
